

EVENT: SUSTAINABILITY SUMMIT

SUSTAINABILITY SUMMIT

January 17-21, 2022

£30 registration fee

Queen's University Belfast is hosting a virtual Sustainability Summit designed to stimulate thinking and accelerate key debate on the pressing sustainability challenges facing our planet today.

Gain access to a unique series of thought-provoking inter-disciplinary talks featuring leading academics across Queen's University Belfast and delve deeper into discussion through live interactive virtual seminars.

Discover an engaging five-day menu of seminar topics for your opportunity to contribute to key debates around sustainability - from politics, health, nature and business to social policy and the engineering solutions that could tackle climate change. Be inspired and shape your future impact.

This event is perfect for university-level students of any discipline who want to take part in stimulating online discussion with others.

- Participate in key debate across a wide range of sustainability seminar themes
- Help to shape future thinking and influence policy on sustainability issues
- Access in-depth talks from leading academics across disciplines
- Build networks with international students interested and impact

Book online and reserve your place (limited places available). A £30 registration fee includes access to all talks and live seminars. Once purchased, you will receive an email to choose your seminars.

Sustainability Summit is a Winter School programme by Queen's University Belfast. Please contact askahss@qub.ac.uk if you have any queries.

Further information on the event:

- Information page: Winter School | International | Queen's University Belfast \(qub.ac.uk\)
- Information page (shortened link): bit.ly/3xbf3fk